Public Policy Questions: Send Boston a Message! Prove LfM Wins Votes!

Public policy questions let voters give instructions to their state legislators. The questions appear on the November ballot. By putting them on the ballot as LfM questions, we can move policy and show we are winners. To get on the ballot, a question needs 1200 signatures for a State Senate District or 200 signatures for a state representative district

Successful questions from the last election included: "Shall the state representative from this district be instructed to vote in favor of legislation requiring that in separation and divorce proceedings involving minor children, the court shall uphold the rights of both parents to the shared physical and legal custody of their children...?" and

"Shall the state senator from this district be instructed to vote in favor of legislation that would allow seriously ill patients, with their doctor's written recommendation, to possess and grow small amounts of marijuana for their personal medical use?"

Public Policy Questions are a positive way for to create debate on our issues. A small group of people can put a question on the ballot. By putting forth winning questions, we establish that we are winners.

The Pioneer Valley Libertarian Association is working on a ballot question supporting commercial production of industrial hemp (the plant the Navy uses for rope), and a ballot question urging reductions in ballot access obstacles. Other possible questions include:

"Shall the state representative be instructed to introduce and vote for legislation that would establish tax credits for persons and corporations supporting the education of any child in a private, non-sectarian school or home schooling environment?"

"Shall the state representative be instructed to introduce and vote for legislation that would seek to suppress terrorism by making issuance of Massachusetts gun permits "shall issue" to all legally eligible persons at level "Class A" for "all lawful purposes", upgrade current gun permits to "Class A" "all lawful purposes", and to maintain public safety require public schools to establish age-appropriate compulsory programs of instruction in safety, use, and care of small arms for all students not disqualified by religion, conscience, or physical, mental, or legal handicap?"

Public Policy Questions: Easy for a small group of people to put on the ballot. Proven effective. Why not next year?

From the Chair

I wish to thank the members of Liberty for Massachusetts for electing me as our first Chair. I hope to achieve our goal of educating the public, the members of our organization, and others of our objectives.

The purpose of our organization is to enlighten the world about the original principles that our country was founded upon: Freedom and Liberty for all without governmental oppression. We seem to have gone astray from our founding fathers' vision. Today's society needs to be enlightened as to our own ability to control our destiny: That without governmental control, you can survive and flourish, that you have the ability to think for yourself, and that your hard earned dollars should be yours to do with as you please. Through our organization we hope to assist those with libertarian principles, goals, and directions in getting elected, educating the public, and fostering the idea of liberty for all.

...Steven B. Drobnis

LfM Chair

Why We Need Liberty for Massachusetts—Now!

Every day, our freedoms are eroded by a Democratic-Republican Congress. Every day, our chances of living our own lives, of keeping government out of our bedrooms and pocketbooks, get smaller and smaller. Every day or two, our Federal government racks up another two billion dollars in debt. That's debt your children and grandchildren will bear for the rest of their lives.

Fortunately, there's an alternative—the alternative of lower taxes, smaller government, more freedom, and equality before the law. That alternative won't happen by itself. It will only happen if we join together and make it happen! We must make it happen soon, because very soon it will be too late! Too late for you. Too late for your children. Too late for America.

To Make Liberty Happen, we've formed a new libertarian organization in Massachusetts, an organization dedicated to effective political action.

For a brighter future, join Liberty for Massachusetts!

Liberty for Massachusetts Web Pages Now Open for Business

Thanks to the hard work of Liberty for Massachusetts Webmaster Rick Rajter, the Liberty for Massachusetts web pages at <http://www.libertyformassachusetts.com> are now up and running. The web pages include opportunities to volunteer, activities, news from LfM working groups, Members running for office, picnics and other social events, PDFs of this and other fine newsletters, minutes of Mutual Aid Committee meetings, and our Bylaws and Standing Rules.

The Liberty for Massachusetts Web Pages will soon be expanded. Public education and outreach pages will be available. A Calendar will advise libertarians about forthcoming events, local groups and outreach opportunities.

Selling Libertarianism

Last weekend, I was talking with a fellow libertarian about growing our ranks beyond the paltry 1% of support that we currently muster. The first target market I brought up was women. Attendance at any libertarian event will quickly educate TMA readers about the greater than 90/10 male-to-female ratio prevalent amongst our activist ranks. But why is this? My guess has something to do with the preponderance of logic-based thinking. (www.themodernamerican.com/blog/ for the link.)

Many libertarians tend to analyze from a purely logical standpoint, but that's not how most men and women think. There's a combination of emotion and reason whose sum makes a human mind. Libertarians lean very heavily toward the reason side, often at the expense of what they feel. The general population does not share this imbalance which is partly why we don't relate to Joe and Jane Public. We neglect the soft side of life, and demand that they understand and agree simply based on logic alone.

A quick look at libertarian publications demonstrates this failure. Each publication rests solely on the premise that content is important and style is not. I will give the LP website credit for using the nice Statue of Liberty and American flag, but other than that, they're pure information and no flair. Those specific sites are simply examples of the greater problem. But so long as we continue to ignore or deny the existence and power of emotions, we will never achieve greater than a few percentage points of the popular vote as a party.

Where am I going with this? Right now I'm specifically referring to how we market ourselves. A Libertarian publication that addresses concerns from both a logical and an emotional standpoint is the Institute for Justice's Liberty and Law. If we spent half as much time addressing emotional concerns such as style, compassion, and marketing as we do to making our arguments appear bulletproof, we would easily break free from LfM Social HourSaturday April 30, 20053PM at the home of Steve Drobni, Stoughton. RSVP for directions to steve@mrd.net.The Liberty For Massachusetts Organizing Committee will meet at 2, an hour before the social event.*All are welcome to attend.*Keep Your Money In Massachusetts!

Are you a contributor? Do you give money to pro-Liberty causes and campaigns around the country, using your checkbook to Stand Up for Liberty! by supporting pro-Liberty campaigns? Here's an idea for you:

Keep Your Money in Massachusetts! Give your funds to support pro-Liberty campaigners here in your home state. Give your money to support Massachusetts candidates you like. Give your money to support Massachusetts groups you like. Give your money to support Liberty for Massachusetts. In Massachusetts, the effective pro-Liberty campaigns are run by unpaid volunteers. They may pay a secretary or petitioners--your friends and neighbors, people who will spend their money here at home. However, effective pro-Liberty campaigns do not have flocks of out-of-state advisors, paid political consultants, media spin doctors,... people who earn a living by taking your donations and, for services performed, give themselves your money.

When you spend your money here in Massachusetts, you can be reasonably sure that it will actually be spent on advancing the cause of liberty through fliers, radio and press advertisements, lawn signs, bumper stickers, sign carriers, press releases, ballot access, and other activities that actually advance liberty here in Massachusetts.

Besides, when you Keep Your Money in Massachusetts, you will contribute to the income of your fellow residents of Massachusetts, people who are your friends, neighbors, relatives, and potential customers.

But no matter who gets your money, invest wisely! Look at the record of how your chosen groups spent money in the past. As a result of campaign reform laws, the Federal Election Commission <http://www.fec.gov> and the Massachusetts Office of Campaign and Political Finance <http://www.mass.gov/ocpf/> report how money was spent by party committees, candidates, and ballot action committees.
